This competition is designed to promote the Goodness Festival with a focus on promoting National Science Week, along with the general principles of sustainability, science and engineering. This is a non-for-profit organisation, so no fees are charged for entry and all prizes have been donated to promote goodness within the community.

None of the posts provided by competition entrants represent the views or business of Goodness, or associated organisations (Scinapse, Pollinators or NACC).

Entry into the competition is open to anyone, except the organisers of the competition.

The competition has 3 separate draws:

Draw 1 - 12/8/17 (Task 1 only) – Complete Entries before 12/8/17 to be eligible for this draw.

Draw 2 - 23/8/17 (Task 2, 3 and 4 only) – Complete Entries by 22/8/17 to be eligible for this draw.

Entries must be provided on the appropriate answer template from the Goodness webpage, and filled in by participating teams/individuals. The answers must prove the task has been completed or the points will not be allocated for each answer. Compulsory tasks must be completed (or given a good shot).

Entries for each draw must be submitted before or on the due date for each draw to be considered – dates are provided on the answer template. Late entries for the draws will not be eligible for the associated prizes.

Once an entry has been submitted, it will be marked/assessed by the organising committee and if compulsory questions have not been completed, the entry will be ineligible for the prize. For the final Draw 3, the winner will be the person with the most completed entry with the highest points. It is possible to have joint winners of the final prize Draw 3, but Draws 1 and 2 will only have one winner.

Organising committee winner selection will be carried out with input from at least 3 committee members and all participants will be informed of the winner. The committee's decision will be final. No further discussion about entries will be had after the winner is announced for each draw.
